Below is a single table with the 944 segments you actually used in your final EDI, presented in the same layout (Header/Detail/Summary) as your blank template. Instead of mapping each element, we're simply placing the exact EDI lines (in the "Name" column) that correspond to each segment type. This way, you can see which segments are used and how they appear in your final file—without any additional mapping details.

Notes

1. Envelope Segments (ISA, GS, ST, SE, GE, IEA) are typically not part of the 944 "body" guidelines. They're shown in your final EDI file but are outside this table.
2. Each W07 line is followed by a G69 (description) and multiple N9 segments (color, size, PO, dimensions). The table above consolidates them for brevity.
3. This table focuses on the segments used and the exact EDI lines (in the "Name (Segment)" column) without further mapping details, per your request.
